LATEST RUMORS OF IRISH PEACE ARE DISCOUNTED

Time for Meeting of Erin's Parliament Brings Story of Conciliation

FOUR ELECTIONS AT HAND

Will Afford Voters Clear Pronouncement on Treaty with England

DUBLIN, Sept. 4.—As the time for the meeting of the Irish parliament approaches renewed rumors are in circulation of plans to bring about peace between the government and the irregulars. It is pointed out that the nucleus of a possible peace party exists in a combination of the Labor party and the independent but in government circles there is no talk of any compromise, the essential condition of peace being declared in these circles to be the surrender of the part of the irregulars.

The four parliamentary vacancies caused by the deaths of Mr. Thomas Michael Collins, Charles Burgess and Henry Boland, will be filled by election in widely separated districts. The opportunity for the election of the Anglo-Irish treaty and the government policy, Michael Collins had been a member of the cabinet. The election of Mr. O'Higgins, who probably will be taken into the cabinet.

DUBLIN, Sept. 4.—Eamon de Valera, and Eoin O'Duffy, are believed to have participated in the Kilbuck, County Cork, on Saturday. During the conflict, in which National troops defeated a superior number of irregulars, Joseph O'Duffy, a later kept close with one of the farm houses from which the irregulars are believed to have directed the campaign.

The Republican campaign of annihilation and destruction continues, but on a smaller scale than in the past. During the week-end two bridges were blown up near Limerick, and the hay crops of many farmers in the Tipperary were destroyed.

Clonmel, Co. Kilkenny, the historic town of the Earl of Arundel, was burned to the ground on Saturday. The town was burned by the irregulars, who were believed to have been directed by the Earl of Arundel.

Armistice Is Planned by Allied Governments

LONDON, Sept. 4.—While Great Britain has not intervened to bring about an armistice between the Greeks and Turks, it was believed officially this evening that the allied governments were in agreement with that object. It is believed in official circles, however, that the Turks would decline to consent to an armistice except upon conditions that the Greeks evacuate Asia Minor, which would raise the question of the protection of the Christian population.

men is gradually coming to the stage where it is harmonizing with present day conditions. The change that has been made has been the result of urgent demands of the new age.

Continuing the speaker pointed out that in the political realm the country is steadily doing what it has always done, responding to external conditions as they may be. Political parties, the speaker said, are bound to realize that the voters have a right to meet the changing conditions they must face, and that of them are making the changes necessary to continue.

Evening Program

A dinner and concert were held in the Memorial hall during the evening. The concert, commenced at 7:45 o'clock and was built up with popular and selection by the orchestra. During the evening William Irvine, M.P. for Calgary, gave a twenty minute address that was interesting and a revelation to some of the audience. After that the speaker's remarks which were generally appreciated, the assemblage broke the mantle and picked up here and there a box of subscription.

The Melody orchestra supplied the music for the occasion and gave satisfaction in everything. At midnight the meeting broke up and the crowd went to their homes convinced that the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council really knew how to give a good time. They also promised full support to the social committee. The speaker intended efforts this winter.

McMurray Commercial Product Extraction Plant Now in operation; Quality of Product Found Extra Good find a solution, but Mr. Draper's company is the only one that is conducting its experiments on a large scale and on the ground.

When Mr. Draper went north in May last he took 40 tons of machinery and equipment for oil extraction. One unit of the plant is now in operation and the second will be operating on Mr. Draper's return. The plant is located on the Waterways River, a tributary of the Athabasca, and the land which is being worked is on the line between sections 29 and 32 township 88, range 8, west of the 4th meridian, and is quite close to the plant. The far bed being operated is 140 feet in thickness, and in the lower part yields 14 per cent of oil. Nearer the upper part of the bed the yield is 20 per cent. The overburden of earth is from 10 to 20 feet in thickness. The material being excavated by the use of spades. When operations are enlarged power appliances will be used.

Mr. Draper brought with him samples of the crude oil as extracted. It is asphaltum base and its gravity is 19.04 degrees Baumé. It is quite dark in color, and though it is very fluid. This is a valuable quality as it simplifies the problems of transportation for both producer and refiner. In other words it can be piped successfully even in very cold weather. In its crude state the oil can be used in crude oil internal combustion engines as well as in steam boilers. The river steamers plying between McMurray and Smith will use the oil as fuel in preference to wood as soon as they are assured of sufficient supply. When it is produced in quantity a refining will be necessary to split the crude products into the different interchangeable parts. The company's experiments have been carried so far that they are satisfied that with the necessary expansion of their plant they can produce oil commercially that can be marketed at a price that will enable the prairie and meet in competition with oil produced elsewhere by other means. That is, they have solved the problem.

The following are the commercial products which are comprised in the oil as extracted from the tar sand by Mr. Draper's process: 5 per cent benzine (which may be made into gasoline); 3.125 per cent kerosene (illuminating oil); 12.5 per cent light gas oil (which can be made into gas); 43.75 per cent lubricating oils; 20 per cent asphaltum or bitumen.

The most valuable of these products is the 43.75 per cent of lubricating oil. They have a viscosity which makes them suitable for all kinds of lubrication from the heaviest and coarsest down to the finest running machine oil. The cold tests of these products when submitted to a temperature of 20 degrees below zero they did not materially solidify. No other oils known will stand so severe a cold.

During a recent visit to Edmonton, in discussing with City Engineer Haddow and Provincial Commissioner of Highways Dunsdale the possible use of the tar-sand product in street and road making, it was suggested that this would be best adapted for that use. With a view to producing tar, which would include a larger proportion of the total content of the tar-sand beds than does the crude oil, Mr. Draper made certain readjustments in his plant, and on Monday last he had a trial run in producing tar instead of oil. The experiment was successful and several barrels of tar or asphaltum of similar to the Trinidad product were shipped to Edmonton on the last incoming train. The proportion of tar recovered from a ton of crude tar-sand was of course much greater than that of oil products would have been. The tar brought out will be used in experiments to determine its value for street and road improvement. At the same time the process of extraction will be further improved, so far as that is possible.

At the request of City Engineer Haddow Mr. Draper recently shipped a car load of the crude tar-sand to Edmonton to be used experimentally in asphaltizing sidewalks. This has been used in the renewal of the sidewalk on the north side of Elizabeth street along the north side of market square. The surfacing material was composed of 700 pounds of tar-sand, 210 pounds of crushed stones of quarter-inch size, and 140 pounds of broken bricks. The material was mixed in the city yard. It was spread on the surface of the sidewalk three quarters of an inch in thickness and rolled smooth. Then 70 pounds of cement dust was spread over the surface to prevent the asphalt from becoming sticky in hot weather. The sidewalk was ready for traffic as soon as the cement had been rolled. The material seems to be entirely satisfactory.

A car of crude tar-sand was also shipped to the university of Alberta for experimental use by last Waterways. While it may be possible that the crude tar-sand for use in road making will stand the cost of rail shipment to Edmonton or adjacent points it would be too much to expect the 80 per cent oil and tar content of the sand beds to carry the 80 per cent of overburden to wider markets. Therefore the 80 per cent of sand must be separated and left at McMurray. To make this separation most efficiently and at lowest possible cost is the objective of the McMurray Asphaltum & Oil Limited. Although they have never brought their extraction process up to a commercial basis, further experimenting will be carried on. Mr. Draper will return north next week and will personally supervise all operations until the freeze up. The question of operating the plant during the coming winter has not yet been decided, with winter operations are entirely practicable it might not be profitable until the plant has been enlarged as it is in due course.

It is of interest to the public to know that the McMurray Asphaltum & Oil Limited, of Petrolia, Ont., is an association of experienced oil men having both capital and experience to enable them to carry to a successful conclusion the enterprise which they have undertaken in turning to commercial use the vast, and hitherto waste, tar-sand beds of the Athabasca.

Mr. Draper the president and general manager is a manufacturer of oil producing machinery and has been engaged all his life in the work of oil development.

Situation Similar to That In Winnipeg Three Years Ago is Threatened in States

Sam Gompers is Guarded in His Statements But Feeling Prevails That General Walkout of All Labor Organizations May Take Place—Executive of Labor Federation Meets On September 9th.

New York, Sept. 5.—(Canadian Press)—Interest in the United States strike situation today centered in the possibility of a general strike of organized labor all over the country, bringing about a national situation similar to that which tied up the city of Winnipeg when the One Big Union faction of Canadian labor held sway there three years ago.

While Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, has been very guarded in his statements touching upon a general strike, there is a strong belief that a walkout embracing practically all unions under the control of the federation may be organized labor's reply to the move made by the government yesterday when Attorney General Daugherty secured a blanket injunction in Chicago restraining the railroad shop strikers from interfering with the operation of the roads in any way.

The announcement is generally regarded as of very serious import. The interference of a stupendous threat that is plainly there, declares the New York World, and other papers take a similar view.

The possibility of conditions similar to those which prevailed in Winnipeg during the One Big Union strike following the ordering of a general cessation of labor is being freely discussed. "Certain it is," says the World, "if the general strike is declared, that the I.W.O.M. and similar radical organizations will be the ones to lead the strike." It is also stated that the solidarity of labor in a general action will not be broken down by the fact that some of the unions will be to the contrary of the situation.

The membership of the American Federation of Labor, according to the latest reliable figure, is 4,000,000. That of the I.W.O.M. is supposed to be 250,000, although the number belonging to this organization is difficult to determine.

Never in any previous strike in its knowledge has there been such a demand made upon the I.W.O.M. to call a general strike. Mr. Gompers informed correspondents "I can show you 250 demands, resolutions and letters all asking me to call a general strike."

Executive Meets September 9th. Chicago, Sept. 5.—Under restrictions imposed by the federal government by means of the most drastic and far-reaching laws, the executive committee of the American Federation of Labor, meeting in Chicago, will discuss the $20,000,000 railroad strike situation.

Monitor District is Making Splendid Progress in Poultry Raising; Turkeys Profitable

Purebred Poultry Being Introduced Through School Poultry Club—Thirty-five Children Have Flocks of Pure Bred Barred Plymouth Rocks—Large Number of Turkeys Raised This Year.

J. Ross Higgins, Dominion poultry promoter, who has just returned to Edmonton after spending a week in the Monitor district, is reporting a splendid progress in poultry raising.

An indication of the progress is to be seen in the fact that the district is making considerable rapid progress in the poultry industry. A school poultry club was organized some time ago by W. F. Higgins, principal of the Monitor public school, and as a result of the assistance given by the poultry branch in the way of supplying hatching eggs and other whatever instructions required, there are over thirty-five pure bred flocks of barred Plymouth Rocks in the district owned by the children. These birds were sent from a dozen to fifty birds and Mr. Higgins reports that there are as good as he can be found anywhere.

Barred Plymouth Rocks are one of the leading breeds of poultry in that district and indications are that within a few years practically every farm or in the district will have a flock of good pure birds. During the past few years the poultry branch has been using the school poultry club as a means of distributing hatching eggs and the school is working out very successfully in each district.

In the Monitor district the thirty-five pupils were supplied with from one to four dozen eggs this year from Alberta approved flocks. The majority of requests were for barred Plymouth Rock eggs and these were supplied at a comparatively low cost. As far as possible the poultry branch try to keep down the number of breeds in each district.

As an encouragement to the children grown girls are being offered for poultry as the school fair. This fall and assistance in being given in securing the best birds for exhibition.

Raising Turkeys. Several farmers throughout the district are raising turkeys and a fairly large scale and it is estimated that this fall there will be between 1,000 and 2,000 turkeys marketed at the same time for the Christmas trade.

The poultry branch has been asked to establish a killing centre at this time and all of the turkeys will be killed and shipped co-operatively.

Unusual Incident In County Cricket At Trent Bridge

LONDON, Sept. 5.—(Canadian Press)—An incident without parallel in the history of county cricket occurred at Trent Bridge, the match between Hampshire and Nottinghamshire, when the batsman, who was the southern country's leading batsman, was injured by a ball hit by him. Captain H. W. J. Tennyson, Newman, requested respite made by the spectators and when respite was made some reply to the captain was refused. He was ordered off the field. He kicked a wicket down on the way to the pavilion. Later it was found that Newman had applied to the captain of his own team and he reappeared on the field this morning.

DUCK HUNTERS TAKE WARNING

Must Keep Fingers Off Triggers Until Out of City—Shooting Within Limits Unlawful

The Chief Warden is issuing stern warning to all enthusiastic duck hunters, who, when they are out of the city limits, must keep off the triggers until they are out of the city limits.

Since the season started, every day the police have received complaints from residents of duck hunters firing off their guns within the city limits and the chief says that this must cease. It being contrary to city ordinance and the police mean to see that the law is enforced.

So far those detected have made the excuse that they did not know the law. This excuse, however, does not seem to have been allowed in this respect up to now. The chief says that in the future it will not avail.

The police say that the city is entitled to be protected from the danger of the shooting of ducks and geese, and the police mean to see that the law is enforced.

The complaints have come from all parts of the outskirts of the city, but more numerous from the southwest district.

CLIP AND SAVE THEM

Some players confine their use of the club to the fairway, and when they are in the hole, they use it for "cut" shots, and very few use it for the "put" shot. In two ways the "put" shot is the most important, and the "put" shot is the most difficult one to make. The "put" shot is the most important, and the "put" shot is the most difficult one to make. The "put" shot is the most important, and the "put" shot is the most difficult one to make.

VETS BEAT CALLIES; SOUTHSIDE WINS

WEAKENED NATIONALS WERE UNABLE TO HOLD SOUTH SIDE OUT AND LOSE FIVE TO NIL

Game on Saturday Between Callies and Vets Was One of Hard Knocks and Much Action But Was Not a Good Game—Vets Score Two Goals to One by the Scots—Despite Big Score Monday Game Was Good Display

Two games were played in the Charity Shield during the week end. On Saturday the Vets put "put" to the account of the Callies by two goals to one, although runner has it that there is a protest in the offing by the boys of blue. On Monday, because a large crowd, South side won their game against a weakened C.N. 2, team by five goals to nothing. All the goals were good ones. The game itself, notwithstanding the big score, was very good to watch. The C.N. missed a penalty in the first half. The game of affairs in the Charity Shield was a game of affairs in the Charity Shield. This incident was called a good game by the boys of blue.
